

Q. What else can I do to protect my landscaping?

A. Deer do, indeed, like a variety of fruits, vegetables, plant buds and shoots, bark and shrubs. There are, however, some “deer-resistant” plants you can use in your yard. That’s deer-resistant, not deer proof. Check this list for some deer-resistant landscaping options.

Achillea - Yarrow
Allium - Ornamental Chives
Amsonia - Blue Star
Artemisia - Wormwood
Asclepias - Butterfly Weed
Aquilegia - Columbine
Berberis Thunbergii - Barberry
Buddleia Davidii - Butterfly Bush
Buxus - Boxwood
Calamintha - Calamint
Caryopteris - Bluebeard
Cimicifuga - Bugbane
Corydalis
Crococsmia - Montbretia
Daphne - Daphne
Dicentra - Bleeding Hearts
Digitalis - Foxglove
Echinops - Globe Thistle
Euphorbia - Spurge
Ferns
Filipendula - Dropwort
Galium - Sweet Woodruff
Genista - Broom
Heeleborus - Hellebore
Hypericum - St. John’s Wort
Hyssopus - Hyssop
Iris Siberica - Siberian Iris
Kolkwitzia - Beauty Bush
Lamium - Dead Nettles
Lvandula- Lavender
Lespedeza
Linaria - Toadflax
Lychnis - Rose Campion

Melissa - Lemon Balm
Mentha - Mint
Monarda - Bee Balm
Myrica - Northern Bayberry
Nepeta - Catnip
Origanum - Oregano
Paeonia - Peony
Papaver Orientale - Poppy
Peroskia - Russian Sage
Phlox Subulata - Moss Pinks
Picea - Spruce
Potentilla - Cinquefoil
Pulmonaria - Lungwort
Rhus - Sumac
Ruta - Herb of Grace
Salvia - Meadow Sage
Saponaria - Soapwort
Satureya - Winter Savory
Senecio - Golden Ragwort
Stachys - Lamb’s Ear
Symphytum - Comfrey
Tanacetum - Tansy
Teucrium - Germander
Thymus - Thyme
Verbascum - Mullein
Yucca - Adam’s Needle

